IN MEMORIAM
In memory of husband and father, T. J. Gardner, who departed this life 3 years ago, Dec. 18, 1953.

How we miss your welcome calls,
The ones we loved so dear to hear;
We still listen for your calling,
Feeling sure you are near.

A happy home we all enjoyed,
How sweet the memories still,
But now there is a vacant place,
That never can be filled.

You suffered years, yes year's of pain,
Waiting for cure, but all in vain;
Happy angels came and bore you
From this world of suffering pain.

In our hearts your memory lingers,
Sweetly, tender, fond and true,
There is not a day dear husband and father,
We do not think of you.
—Sadly missed by wife and children.

IN MEMORIAM
In memory of our dear son, John W. Durie, who passed away one year ago, Dec. 2, 1955.
We are left with a sad heart,
But we still remember your sweet
Loving face, and you will never be Forgotten. But we wish we could
See your loving face once more.
But God took you from us,
But He knows best.
All we can do is go out to your
Grave and look and pray.
—Sadly missed by father, mother, sisters and brothers.
Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Durie.

displayed. You can see the knife Crockett used in his last bear hunt; the gun mentioned in the legends of the Red River Valley, Bowie knives, and the sheer awesomeness of evidence of the forces of Gen. Antonio Lopez de Santa Anna . . . and the heroic defense of the men from Texas.

"Remember the Alamo?" Indeed! How could one forget? And how can I forget San Antonio, today... resplendent as a wonderful city. I will always treasure a little snapshot picture of me, with Homberg hat in hand, a "country editor" on tour — at the Alamo!

Colored Dots

An unusually large crowd attended the sixth annual Men's Day program at the Mount Shiloh Baptist Church last Sunday evening at 3:30. The program was sponsored by the Men's Club of the church. Johnnie Paige served as master of ceremony. Devotionals were conducted by Rev. Curtis Elliott, who also rendered a solo. The welcome address was given by Norman Turner, president of the club. The response was given by Winston Jones of the Canaan Church Men's Club. Music was furnished by the Appomattox Trumpeters, and Mr. Mason and others from Roanoke, Va. A paper was read by Calvin Elliott. The annual sermon was rendered by Rev. E. E. Palmer, pastor of the Wingfield Baptist Church, Lynchburg, Va. The offering was lifted by Deacon Bernet Turner. He was assisted by deacons Calloway and Emmette Fleshman. A total of $52.69 was reported.

The general public is cordially invited to attend the regular preaching services at the Galilee Baptist Church this Sunday at 11:30 A. M. Each member is reminded to bring his special Christmas envelope for the pastor.

Regular preaching services were held at the First Baptist Church last Sunday morning. The pastor delivered a special sermon.

The public is invited to attend a meeting sponsored by the Grand United Order of Moses at the Galilee Baptist Church this Sunday at 3 P. M. The Rev. R. Jamison White, Inter State Deputy, will deliver a special sermon.

Rev. and Mrs. R. Q. Lawing and their son, Timotheous were Sunday dinner guests of deacon and Mrs. Beauford Hicks.

Mrs. M. J. Price and Mrs. O. W. Smith attended a social planning meeting in Richmond Saturday.

Seaman Fred Tanner, of the U. S. Navy, is spending his furlough here as the guest of his family and parents.

Mrs. Massie Stevens is spending some time here with her family.

Mrs. Landora Palmer has returned home after undergoing special treatments in a Baltimore hospital.

Mr. Editor: Please give me a little space in your paper. A few words to the public. Dear friends: one and all to whom it may concern. You are cordially invited to attend a prayer union club meeting at the Jordan Baptist Church the third Sunday in December at 2 o'clock P. M. Come and let us get together in a loving union, giving thanks to God. Let us take up an offering for the sick. This meeting is sponsored by Henry Phelps. a member of the Jordan Baptist Church. May the Lord bless us one and all.

SELECTION FOR EARLY CALVING SEEN DESIRABLE IN BEEF CATTLE

If beef breeders would select for early calving dates, when the breed ing season is limited to around 90 days, they likely would see an immediate increase in calving percentage.

This is shown in a report from Martin J. Burris and B. M. Priode, at the Front Royal beef cattle research station. They have recently completed a study of 1950 to 1956 calving records of Angus, Hereford, and Shorthorn cattle at the station to determine the effect of calving date on subsequent calving performance.

Of cows calving each 20-day period during calving season, Burris and Priode determined that per cent which failed to calve the following season. They made a comparison of previous calving dates of all cows which failed to calve, with the previous date all cows which calved in both years. Then they mapped the association between the calving dates of cows when the calvings occurred in successive calving seasons.

They found that each delay of 20 days in previous calving date resulted in an increase of 6.9 per cent in cows not calving.

The researchers point out that a high annual calf crop percentage is essential to a profitable beef cattle enterprise. Failure of cows to calve is one of the chief problems in getting a satisfactory calf crop.

The Front Royal station is a branch of VPI Agricultural Experiment Station.

DARKNESS BRINGS MORE DRIVING HAZARDS

Chicago.- Afraid of the dark? You need not be afraid, of course, the National Safety Council says. But the Council adds that it's wise to have a healthy respect for the dark if you are driving a car.

The reason is simple — you must see danger to avoid it.

Last year more than half of the $8,300 fatal traffic accidents occurred at night — and during the Christmas holidays, which the Council says are the most deadly time of the year, 75 per cent of the fatal accidents happened during the dark hours of 5 P. M. and 7 A. M.

Because of the rising toll, a "Back the Attack on Traffic Accidents" campaign, launched this month and continuing through 1957, will emphasize night driving hazards and safety. Special attention also will be on speed, drinking drivers and pedestrians, and pedestrian hazards, all of which increases the Christmas holiday toll, the Council said.

The "Back the Attack" campaign inaugurated because of the emergency traffic situation, seeks to encourage stepped-up enforcement by public officials and to stimulate acceptance of enforcement by citizens.

"Drive safely yourself," said Ned H. Dearborn, Council president, "and prevent the one accident you can control — the one that involves you. Then get behind a community attack on this problem. Back your officials to the hilt in whatever needs to be done to stop carnage."

The Council offers the following suggestions to help reduce driving accidents:

1. Slow down. Don't exceed your speed by posted limits. Remember, speed must be governed by conditions, and darkness is a condition that calls for caution.

2. Have your car checked frequently. In darkness, instant response of the vehicle is a must. Double-check all lights.

3. Be alert. Keep a sharp watch for pedestrians and bicycles with dim lights or no lights at all.

4. Don't wear tinted glasses at night. The advantage they offer in reducing glare is more than offset by the dangerously reduced vision.

5. Use headlights properly. Use upperbeam only on rural highways when no approaching car is within 1,000 feet. Use lower beam for oncoming cars approach, when you are overtaking another car, and when driving in cities and residential areas.

6. Dim your lights, even when an oncoming driver fails to do so. Trying to get even by blinding him is risking your neck. Keep control of your car by looking to the right shoulder of the highway.

7. Be sure your lights are before you pull onto a lighted road at night.

8. Never stop on the traveled portion of a roadway at night. If you must stop, pull completely off the roadway, leaving parking lights on. Carry flares for use in emergencies.

About The Home

By Frances Dell

Good wool blankets are no small investment and should be well taken care of. They will give years of comfort and enjoyment if cared for properly.

Correct laundering or dry-cleaning by a reputable cleaner are necessary to keep blankets fluffy, warm and soft.

The way blankets are stored and their every-day care and use they receive are important in retaining their serviceability and beauty.

Brush blankets often, with the nap, toward the binding to remove lint and dirt. Every now and then air them outdoors.

Soiled bindings must be washed with a thick mild soap lather, using a soft brush. The next step is to pull the binding straight and press with a moderate iron. Use a pressing cloth and don't crease the outer edge of the binding. When bindings become frayed or soiled during cleaning, replace them.

Always store blankets clean, in a cool, dry place, in a tightly sealed chest. Do not pile other things to be stored on top of blankets because the weight will flatten their fluffiness.

Don't try to remove stains or rejuvenate blankets. Instead send them to a professional. Never iron a blanket. It can quite easily be ruined by doing this.

When removing blankets from storage, don't twist or pull, or allow them to drag on the floor.
